

LIBERAL ARTS, A.A.

Program Description

The Associate in Arts in Liberal Arts degree is structured like the Bachelor's degree programs, but requires only half as many (60) credit hours to attain. The courses which fulfill the requirements for the Associate degree can usually be applied to the Bachelor's degree, as long as the student consults their advisor where specific major requirements are integrated into the Core. Free electives for the Associate's degree should be chosen in consultation with an academic advisor. At least 30 credit hours must be fulfilled at La Salle University.

Why Take This Major?

An Associate in Arts degree is an excellent stepping stone into a bachelor's degree program here at La Salle. The associate degree will provide you the opportunity to fulfill the University Core requirements and the Institutional Learning Objectives – Level One. Within the Core, you can explore some of the academic disciplines, and also augment your academic experience by taking courses in other disciplines to attain the necessary total of 60 credits. This degree is an excellent foundation on which to base future academic and career decisions.
